

Suresh Ramasubban graduated from AFMC, Pune in 1995. During his tenure he was a recipient of various academic and sporting honors and went on to hold the highest student position of college cadet captain.

After a year of Internship at Safdurjung Hospital, N. Delhi and House staffship in AIIMS he went to pursue his residency in Chicago, followed by specialization in the field of Pulmonary & Critical Care medicine.

Research activities in this time led to publication and awards in the field of "Endothelial cells in Acute Lung Injury". Subsequently he has been active in the research sphere and has many publications and book chapters.

In 2004 he started working as the critical care in-charge at Apollo Gleneagles Hospital, Kolkata, a post he continues to hold till date. He also is director of Sleep medicine.

He has been faculty in national pulmonary & critical care conferences from 2006 onwards. He started the IDCCM program at Apollo Kolkata in 2008 and is an examiner since 2009 and chief examiner at Kolkata since 2014. He also runs the FNB critical care program at Apollo Kolkata.

He has been actively involved in the activities of the ISCCM and was part of the organizing committee of "Criticare 2013" and also the scientific chairperson. He has been a member of the Executive committee of the Kolkata branch of the ISCCM, and is now a member of the national executive committee.

